Christian Center Holds First Service At St. Andrews Church after Purchase

The Rev. Jesse Owens and a group of his supporters from the Christian Center of Princeton have signed a contract to purchase St. Andrews Church on Nassau and Chambers Street from the Nassau Presbyterian Church. The new church, which calls itself the Nassau Christian Center, held its first services of worship in the century-old sanctuary on Sunday.

The Rev. Jesse Owens

Diagonally across the street, the sale and the terms of the contract were announced to the congregation the same day from the pulpit of Nassau Church, which merged with St. Andrews in 1973. According to Robert D. McGilvra, a member of the property committee, the price agreed upon was $400,000, including a non-refundable down payment of $50,000. The sale will not be completed for 18 months, with the balance of $350,000 due in February, 1980.

Both the probability of the sale and the dollar amount of the transaction had been correctly reported last month in TOWN TOPICS.

The Christian Center of Princeton will continue as an Assemblies of God Church in its present location on Harrison Street under the Rev. Michael Muni. Mr. Muni founded the church in 1959 and has continued with it since that time, acting as assistant pastor during the last two years while Mr. Owens was pastor.

Mr. Owens says the Nassau Christian Center has come about because of "people who felt God had made this building available to them." While declining to reveal just how many were involved in the new congregation, which will also be an Assemblies of God Church, he described the

Mayor Hopes Council, Planning Board Can Agree on New Garage in 3 Weeks

"Your hard work has put us in a position to move forward very quickly on a garage," said Planning Board head Margen Penick to Borough Council Monday night. "The Planning Board favors the parking garage concept."

At the end of the two-hour session, the first between the two bodies since the Planning Board's 9-1 rejection of the Borough's proposed garage, it was agreed that:

1. Mrs. Penick will name Planning Board members—perhaps three—who will draw up what she called a "wish list" of board desires concerning a garage. These members will meet with a similar Council group.

2. Council will send architect John Fujiwara quite literally "back to the drawing board," hoping for revised plans in a week or ten days. Mayor Robert W. Cawley said he hopes Planning Board and Council will have an agreement on a garage concept in three weeks.

"I keep looking at when we can break ground," the mayor told the board. He does not want a repeat of the Environmental Design Review Committee-Planning Board process, he said. But Mrs. Penick said she thinks those review processes should be followed.

"If we've agreed on a conceptual plan, it will be smooth sailing," she assured him, adding, "there will always be some citizens disagreeing."

Mayor Cawley passed around his prepared "definition" of the garage project: approximately 800 cars; 15-25,000 commercial square feet; 300-car short-term parking, solely on the first two levels and most of it in the Witherspoon-Tulane area; 500-car long-term parking anywhere in the Central Business District except Park Place, full compliance with the zoning ordinance; a fully self-supporting entity.

"Why not Park Place?" board members asked. Some said this area, behind Davidson's Market, sounded good, but Mayor Cawley felt it was too close to a large residential area.

Mrs. Penick repeated to Council the Board's main objections: combined height and bulk of a structure more than twice as high as the present library and only nine feet lower than the outside wall of Palmer Stadium; effect of concentrated, rush-hour traffic on neighboring streets; the state's requirement that library parking for the handicapped be on the library's own property, not in the garage, with consequent need to narrow the space between library and garage.

The board would like a height limit of four stories (the rejected building was five, but garage stories aren't as tall as those in standard buildings); a real "plaza" in front of the library; commercial space; what Mrs. Penick called a "nibbling away" at the number of cars required; perhaps removal of the Spring Street bridge; use of the small Tulane side for shoppers' parking, with long-term employee parking perhaps on the Chambers lot, and PCH elderly housing moved to the library.

Although the meeting was agreeable enough, it was clear that Council was still smarting.

"I had thought we were building the Planning Board's own garage," commented Mayor Cawley, after board member Hans K. Sander protested that the Borough should have come to the board in the earliest design stages.

"We didn't sit down with you—hindsight says we should have—but this was in all the papers," the Mayor pointed out. "Mrs. Penick and others came to our meetings; it was not done in a vacuum."

"I thought we were partners. No one was more astounded than I when the decision went as it did."

Skepticism was expressed by Council member Nelson van den Blink over the state-required handicapped parking.

"It is very curious that this came up just before the decision, after all the discussion before," she observed and Mayor Cawley earlier had made the same comment. Conrad Snowden, chairman of the library's trustees, replied

"There was nothing underhanded—it surprised us, too."

Repeatedly, board members suggested reviving shuttle parking for people who work in the CBD, with jitneys between the CBD and an outlying lot, probably Jadwin Gym.

"It is discriminatory to tell clerks 'they' have to park at Jadwin and shuttle in, while 'we' can park close in," Mrs. van den Blink protested. Mayor Cawley recalled the failure of a four-month jitney experiment.

"Spear-wounds from employers and employees are still in my back," he said. "Employees in particular were overwhelmingly against it."

The possible precedent set by the board's decision was brought up, also. Four days earlier, Council had met by itself with its counsel, Reeves Hicks, to talk about the Planning Board decision.

At that meeting, held last Thursday, Mayor Cawley told Council there were three options: to proceed anyway—and he said he had assurances the Planning Board would not take the Borough to court if that were the decision—to appeal the Planning Board's decision to the courts or to make changes.

Council's chief concern seemed to be the future.

"If the Planning Board can change, after setting up the ground rules, what the hell have we got!" exclaimed Council member Richard Woodbridge. He was referring to the presence of the parking garage in the Master Plan.

"There are people on the Planning Board who believe that way," the mayor replied. "It is a very serious issue."

William Selden and Martin P. Lombardo, of Council, also expressed concern.

"It brings into question the validity of any Master Plan," Mr. Lombardo observed, and Mayor Cawley said,

"I couldn't agree more. The Planning Board has given strong indication that the Master Plan is no longer a document of any permanency—the board is free to rewrite the plan without going through any studies."

But on Monday night, Mr. Sander assured Council that "Nobody has negated the Master Plan."

Mr. Sander, commenting on the garage's compliance with zoning regulations, said, "Mere compliance

Are You a Stout Fella?

Some 100 descendants of Penelope and Richard Stout, early New Jersey settlers, will gather at the Calvary Baptist Church in Hopewell Saturday to celebrate the association's 50th anniversary.

The day's events will, beginning at 10, include a reception at the church, luncheon provided by church members, and a lecture by Harold Heins Sr., on "George Washington at the Hunt House." The association welcomes any descendants of Richard and Penelope Stout and encourages those who are not sure of their ancestry to come and study the many genealogy charts and identify their branch of the family.

with numbers is no longer good enough," and he detailed the site-plan process, whose results were the substance of the Planning Board's vote.

Planning Board lawyer Allan Porter said New Jersey courts haven't ruled on whether site plan approval can be denied, if zoning requirements have been met.

"This garage represents a watershed on where the CBD is going," Mr. Sander told Council. "If it's a forerunner of the city-like mass the CBD will become, then it's OK." He also pointed out that the CBD Master Plan of 1974 refers only to five acceptable sites, not to the quality of the proposed garage itself.

At the Thursday meeting, Mayor Cawley said he wasn't sure that two garages far-thapart would help traffic. "If you're going from a Township Hall, to protest FAMILIAR? Newspapers of several years ago ran this picture showing an architect's model of low and moderate-income apartments designed for Princeton Community Housing, Inc., to build on the library parking lot. PCH changed its approach and built housing in the Township instead, where it is now known as Princeton Community Village. Architect for the project shown here, was Robert Geddas, a vocal critic of the Borough's parking garage planned for the same site.

Chambers lot to Hightstown, you use Vandeventer, not Nassau," he said.

Although a garage on Chambers has been discussed, Mayor and Council recalled the adamant opposition of John-Witherspoon residents to any "wall" and agreed that west of the Playhouse would be "the worst possible place" for a garage.

APPEAL TO BE HEARD

By Mt. Lucas Residents. Neighbors of Commodities Corporation who live on Mt. Lucas Road, will appear before Township Committee this Wednesday at 8 in Township Hall, to protest

Planning Board action regarding the firm's Mt. Lucas building.

Commodities Corporation was granted a waiver of parking requirements by the Planning Board, and given approval for an addition to its building. The firm's offices are in the Township's Office Research zone on Mt. Lucas Road.

Committee will also hold a hearing on Harry M. Tisch's appeal from a Planning Board decision regarding his plans to build on Cordova Road.

RESIDENT THREATENED

Woman Jailed. Lucy Lawrence, 46, of 35 Hamilton Avenue, was arrested Sunday and remanded to Mercer County Jail on two charges of threatening the lives of neighbors.

Police said that one charge stemmed from an incident on July 26, when the woman was accused of threatening a Hamilton Avenue neighbor with a pellet gun, which resembled a .45 calibre automatic pistol, according to police.

Another incident was reported on Sunday at about 2:30 p.m. Judge Philip Carchman set bail at $10,000, which the defendant was unable to post.

Window Broken. A Hoboken teenager, apparently under the influence of alcohol, according to Borough Police, was arrested Saturday at 9:15 p.m. after he slammed his head and fist through a window at the Nickel, 354 Nassau Street.

Jose Alberto Sanbra was treated for cuts and released after posting 10 percent of the bail, which was set at $500.

Medical Arts Building Proposed for Route 206 Is Quickly Rejected by Township Zoning Board

Rejected 5-0 by the Township Zoning Board last Wednesday after a deliberation session that lasted only 11 minutes, Nassau Medical Arts will take its case to Superior Court, counsel Gordon Strauss said this week.

The applicant could make its appeal to Princeton Township Committee, Mr. Strauss pointed out, but has decided to take its chances with the court instead.

Nassau Medical Arts would like permission to build a two-story office building for doctors and dentists on the triangle of land formed by Route 206, the new Mountain Avenue Extension and the stub of lower Bayard Lane.

Zoning Board members said they were particularly concerned about possible traffic increase in the neighborhood, "a tremendous increase," in the words of board member Lucy Mackenzie. She and Jerome Rose said they saw no evidence that Princeton had a scarcity of physicians; in fact, most of those interested in buying condominiums in the building already had offices in town.

Called a "Hospital," Mr. Strauss pointed out repeatedly that hospitals are allowed in the residential zone as a conditional use and he tried, without success, to convince the Zoning Board that the building was a hospital. He replied, to a question from Mrs. Mackenzie, that "this kind" of hospital did not need state certification.

Allan Porter, representing the Planning Board as an "intervener" because the Planning Board opposes construction of the building on this site, said, "It doesn't make sense to call this a hospital; it's clearly an office building."

Mr. Strauss declared that construction of the jug-handle and the parking lot for the new Community Park North had already destroyed the residential character of the area. "It would be illogical to put houses here," he commented.

The Planning Board's planner, Carleton Ryffel, said the building was "incompatible" with the Master Plan. Granting the required use variance, he warned, could be a precedent for property 200 feet south on Bayard Lane. Designation of the land for single-family, high-density use "is in keeping with patterns already set," he said.

In questions directed to Raymond Brown, appearing as an expert for residents opposed to the project, Mr. Strauss elicited the fact that traffic studies Mr. Brown had been citing, were made in California. He had never done such studies himself, relative to New Jersey, Mr. Brown conceded.

Throughout the hearings, reference was made to other areas where a doctors' and dentists' office building might be built. William Sutphin, attorney for some of the neighborhood objectors, suggested the 100 by 170-foot property on Witherapoon and Henry, formerly the Esposito service station. It is in the B-1 zone. The OR (Office-Research) zone, also proposed, would involve sick patients in a drive up narrow, curving Mt. Lucas Road, Mr. Strauss protested. When Mr. Brown suggested the Shopping Center area, Mr. Strauss pointed out that the SC zone requires covered walkways.

Public Support Being Sought in Renewed Drive To Establish Center for Performing Arts Here

Just as a contract for the sale of St. Andrews Church was announced (see page 1), the Cultural Affairs Committee of the Chamber of Commerce launched a petition to mobilize popular support for establishment of a performing arts center in town.

It was the Cultural Affairs Committee, under the leadership of Frank Schley of 1000 Kingston Road, which this winter had "an agreement to explore" with Nassau Presbyterian Church the use of St. Andrews as a home for the town's performing arts groups. By the end of April the Session of Nassau Church, having spent a year meeting with various civic and charitable groups and having found nothing satisfactory in terms of such organizations that could use the space and meet the costs, voted to sell the building.

The newly-formed Subcommittee of the Cultural Affairs Committee of the Chamber states that "action

Mr. Schley believes that if the public had been more aware of the earlier discussions for an arts center in St. Andrews Church, the necessary financial support might have materialized "and we might have been able to swing it." Now, he says, "If we get a real large number of signers—a couple of thousand—and if we find a couple of people who could give us financial backing, then we would have muscle to take advantage of it."

The wording at the head of the petition puts it this way: "A dedicated group of citizens feels there is an urgent need for a community center for the performing arts. They are presently looking into suitable space to house such a project. In order to seek financial support from various business organizations, foundations and individuals, they must demonstrate that this undertaking has widespread interest in the community."

Mr. Schley is a co-founder, past president and former board member of the Princeton Opera Association. This summer, under a special agreement with Nassau Presbyterian Church, the Opera Association used the St. Andrews sanctuary as a rehearsal hall for its Washington Crossing production of "Kismet."

The sanctuary, which can seat close to 1,000, was once known for its good acoustics. The pews were removed by Nassau Church when it was thought that the Chambers Street sanctuary would be used for a fellowship hall.

Serving with Mr. Schley on the subcommittee are the to obtain a performing arts center for Princeton where local groups can rehearse and perform for audiences of 300 to 400 is gaining momentum this summer. Community leaders and performing arts groups have long expressed need for such a facility. The general public will now have an opportunity, by way of a petition, to register its support.

While the petition is circulating in stores and public meeting spots, the subcommittee, also headed by Mr. Schley, is gathering "a group of responsible citizens...as a potential board of directors for such a center, which, it is anticipated, would act under a corporation and by-laws to initiate and administer such a project."

Benefit to the Town. The Cultural Affairs Subcommittee is also continuing the search for "a downtown site suitable for conversion" to an arts center "with space available to meet other social and human needs of Princeton citizens." The subcommittee feels that obtaining a downtown site will benefit the community by strengthening the performing arts groups here and by stimulating the use of downtown facilities on evenings and weekends. Walking or bus access to the center is envisioned.

6 FROM BOROUGH

For Consolidation Commission. Six Borough residents are circulating petitions which, when completed, with the required 169 signatures will assure them a place on the ballot this November as candidates for Joint Municipal Consolidation Study Commissioners.

The six are Peter Bearse, Charlotte Gipson, Arthur P. Morgan, William K. Selden, Irv Urken and Nicholas B. Van Dyke.

Five Commissioners will be selected by the voters this fall. Any voter in the Borough may run, and those who wish to do so may obtain petitions at Borough Hall in the clerk's office. Deadline for filing the petitions is 40 days before the election.

Mr. Bearse, who lives at 110 Leigh Avenue, was Democratic candidate for the New Jersey State Senate last fall. He is an economist with the Center for New Jersey Affairs at the Woodrow Wilson School, Princeton University.

Mrs. Gipson, 10 Maclean Street, is a member of the Princeton Regional Health Commission and the coordinating committee for Corner House.

Mr. Morgan, 33 Springdale, is a former Republican member of Borough Council. He also served as chairman of the old Borough Planning Board—before Borough and Township combined their planning into the present regional board—and he is currently on the board of trustees of McCarter Theatre. He is senior vice-president of Princeton Bank and Trust.

Mr. Selden, 58 Westcott Road, is also a Republican Council member. He is not seeking re-election this year. He is a consultant to national organizations in health and education affairs.

Mr. Urken, 416 Nassau, is a hardware merchant in Princeton. A former candidate for Borough Council on the Democratic ticket, he served as chairman of the Joint Advisory Committee on Public Transportation, and has been active in local merchants' affairs.

The Rev. Mr. Van Dyck, 2 Queenston Place, is executive director of the National Council for Children and Television. He is a member of the board of the Family Service Agency of Princeton, and the New Grange School.

MAILBOX FLATTENED

A New Crime Trend? Township Police, who last week were investigating two separate incidents of mailbox flattening, had another one on their books this week. Mrs. Robert G. Wagner, of 327 Dodds Lane, reported that at 9:59 p.m. on August 1 she heard a loud banging noise on her front lawn. When she looked out she saw a car speeding north on Dodds Lane. Her mailbox had been knocked off its post. Other mailboxes in the neighborhood were still intact. Sgt. Michael Kopliner is investigating.

Last week police reported that ten mailboxes, three stop signs and a sign and post at the Hun School had been run over by a car in the area of Edgerstoune, Russell, Hun, and Winant roads. A pole-and-rail fence also was destroyed.

"The detective bureau has a suspect in the Edgerstoune case," Chief Frederick Porter said. "We're making headway."

The other mailbox incident was on Mount Lucas Road. Two youths, 17 and 16, were charged with malicious damage to a half dozen mailboxes. The youths, observed by a witness who described their car and its license plate number to police, were turned over to their parents pending further action by Mercer County Juvenile Court.

HIT-RUN CAR SOUGHT

In Kingston Road Accident. Township Police are seeking the driver of a full-size station wagon which swerved out of control Friday morning at 12:25 and struck another car on Kingston Road, between Shadybrook and Dodds lanes.

The accident was reported by Huguette B. Johnston, of 16

August was on the way this week toward tying an unpopular record there was a possibility that its first nine days would all be marked by rain. Not much, on most occasions—the record for the month of better than 10 inches is far out of sight—but enough to get into the gauge.

Along with it, considerably more humidity than is normal—much more like July, the Man pointed out. No change is in sight through the weekend showers are virtually a daily possibility. Temperatures will range into the high 80s and Canadian highs which cool everything off will stay well north of central New Jersey.

Valley Road, who told police she was driving west when the east-bound station wagon suddenly swerved toward her. She pulled to the right hand shoulder. The other car struck the left front fender of her car and continued on at a high rate of speed.

The station wagon was described as light in color, with wood-like trim, and a New Jersey registration. Patrolman James Vandermark investigated.

OFFICE PLANS

Board Approves. Plans by developer Benedict Yedlin for a pair of office buildings on Herrontown Road were given preliminary approval last week by the Planning Board. Mr. Yedlin said he expects to be back with the board next month, with the imposed conditions met. Most of them were related to such matters as curbing, drainage, fire hydrants and the like.

Mr. Yedlin plans a one-story, 8,000-square-foot building, as a start. Later, he hopes to build a two-story, 20,000-square-foot building. There are, as yet, no tenants. The buildings front on Herrontown Road between State Road and Mt. Lucas, across from Princeton House.

The developer also received a waiver of parking spaces. He plans to build 108 for the two buildings, reserving space—to be kept in woodland—for 34 more.

The board also gave final approval of major site development to Marketing Survey & Research.

MOTORCYCLIST CITED

On Two Charges. Jeffrey A. Smith, 22, of 38 Pardee Circle, was charged with driving an unregistered vehicle and with having a defaced license plate after his BSA motorcycle was involved in a collision with a car at the corner of North Harrison Street and Valley Road at 4:50 p.m. Sunday.

Police said that a car driven by Gladys Woods, of 14 Tupelo Row, was turning left into the shopping center from the southbound lane of Harrison Street when it was hit by the motorcycle in the north lane.

Mr. Smith was treated at Princeton Medical Center for cuts of the arm.

DRIVER CHARGED

Under the Influence. Ted F. Worth, of 18 Rossa Avenue, Lawrenceville, was charged by Township Police with driving while under the influence of alcohol after he was involved in a minor accident on Route 206, just north of the intersection with Cherry Hill Road.

Police said that a car driven by Mr. Worth, crashed into the rear end of a car operated by Nora H. Meyers of Hightstown, who was stopped in a line of traffic waiting for the light to change. After the accident, which occurred at 5:45 p.m. on July 28, police said they observed Mr. Worth "swaying and staggering."

He was brought to the station for a breath test and was charged by Patrolman Mario Musso. Township Judge Philip Carchman set bail at $250. The court case was scheduled for September 21.

"SUMMERTIME" ...

At the Public Library. The Princeton Public Library will present a showing of the feature film "Summertime," starring Katherine Hepburn and Rossano Brazzi, on Tuesday at 2:30 and 8.

The 99-minute movie, filmed in color in Venice, depicts the summer romance of a school teacher on vacation in Italy. Everyone is invited.

Green Street Residents Join Others Seeking To Preserve Character of Their Neighborhood

Wherever you point your compass in Princeton, there are streets, neighborhoods, enclaves whose residents have a fierceness of pride that sends them to the battlements whenever they perceive a threat to the residential quality of life in their part of town.

Green Street is an old street. Arched by tall green trees, it is lined with houses that, however small and old, wear their years and their immaculate paint with pride. They are houses that are, in a sense, survivors and they are proud of it.

The street is a key artery in Princeton's black community. It is one block long and it connects John and Witherspoon. The Paul Robeson Community Center—formerly the Youth Center—is at one end, on the Green-Witherspoon corner, with the Joint Civil Rights Commission offices on the Green Street side.

At the other end of the block, across Green from the First Baptist Church and across John from Dorothea House, is a big house with a pleasant, arched portico. Its address is 123 John. It is owned by Emmett Hughes, who used to be a speech-writer for President Dwight Eisenhower, and it has been on the market for $84,500.

The Mercer County chapter of the American Association for the Mentally Handicapped needs office space. Its president, Royce Flippin, the University's Director of Athletics, has proposed that he buy 123 John, rent two stories on one side to the AAMH for a modest rental, remodel a presently uninhabited—and apparently uninhabitable, as it now stands—second floor on the other side as an apartment, and allow the present tenant of the downstairs apartment to remain.

"I am strongly and adamantly opposed to the incursion and establishment of any business enterprise in any form into this area and the conversion of needed housing into a business office," declares Mrs. Kathie Edwards, 25 Green Street.

In a four-page, single-spaced letter to Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley, Borough Council and the Zoning Board, with copies to the newspapers, Mrs. Edwards accuses AAMH of "judiciously utilizing insidious politics to control and manipulate the very lives of the residents of this neighborhood, bringing about ill-will between neighbors, families and friends."

"Vehement Opposition." In April, Mr. Flippin, others on his board, and Peter Trayers, who is executive director of Mercer AAMH, met with Mrs. Edwards, lawyer Bryan

Moore and Ms. Betty Moore in Mr. Moore's Quarry Street home—a block north of Green—to outline their plans. They encountered what Mr. Trayers calls "vehement" opposition.

"We dropped the idea because of the opposition," Mr. Trayers says. "Then we decided these three didn't really represent the whole black community, although Mrs. Edwards is president of the John-Witherspoon Civic Association."

Mr. Flippin then wrote a letter, explaining that the AAMH is "anxious to receive responsible community and neighborhood support." He sent it to four key ministers: the Rev. Edward Smith, First Baptist; the Rev. Leon Gipson, Mt. Pisgah A.M.E.; the Rev. Charles E. Quillen, Witherspoon Street Presbyterian and the Rev. C. Guidry, Morning Star Church of God in Christ.

He also sent it to others in the community, including Mrs. Emma Epps, Joseph P. Moore, Township Police Chief Fred Porter and the director of the Paul Robeson Center. The Rev. Mr. Gipson said this week that he plans to gather the ministers together shortly. "Nobody's going to force anything down anybody's throat," Mr. Trayers says. "Royce hasn't bought the house, we haven't applied for a variance. The point of the letter is to get opinions from others in the town."

Housing Increase? "Mrs. Edwards says we'd be taking away housing but we'd actually be increasing it by remodeling that second floor into an apartment. Only one man lives in the house now—he would stay as long as he likes."

But Bryan Moore doesn't see it this way.

"You get business into a residential area and pretty soon other houses are sold for business, too," he says. "And what do ministers know? They're here only for a year or two; they get free housing. They aren't concerned about where people live."

Mr. Moore has lived for 27 years on Quarry Street. His law offices are there, also.

The area is in the Borough's R-4 zone. Offices are not a permitted use, even the offices of non-profit organizations like the AAMH. A zoning variance would be necessary.

One irony is that AAMH had to move because Princeton University plans to convert its former office space at 163 Nassau, into apartments. AAMH is temporarily at 20 Nassau. Not a good spot, Mr. Trayers says, because its mentally-handicapped clients easily get lost in the big building's complex hallways.

Parking Not a Problem. AAMH has a staff of about ten.

Some are involved in an employment project to find jobs for the mentally-handicapped. Others are counsellors who hold counselling sessions for the members. Mr. Trayers says nobody on the staff would be allowed to park on either Green or John.

"This won't be a group home for the handicapped, and most of them would be walking there—not very many have a driver's license."

People living on the street haven't been aware that all

Green St. Residents

this is coming to a boil. Many residents say they don't belong to the John Witherspoon Civic Association, although Mr. Moore says everyone in the area belongs simply by virtue of living there.

Clyde Woody has been living almost 40 years in the 13 Green Street house he bought from Mrs. Edgar Palmer, wife of the developer of Palmer Square. He says he was able to get it cheap from her—it had neither plumbing nor heating when he bought it—because he had worked for her. She once owned four houses on Green, he says.

Now retired, Mr. Woody belongs to a generation that still talks with bitterness about the way black homes were swept away when Palmer Square was built. He has only harsh words for "the University" and indeed, Mrs. Edwards, in her letter, says the AAMH proposal "has reopened old wounds, re-kindled old hostilities and distrust between 'Town and Gown.'"

The AAMH is not affiliated with Princeton University, except as a tenant.

Transients Opposed. Archie Burrell has rented his house at 7 Green for 20 years from his next-door neighbor, Mrs. Lucy Jackson. James Barbour at Number 17, bought the double building with Thomas Moore in Number 19, at the same time—"more than 20 years ago."

"It's a street of homeowners," Mr. Barbour observes. "I'd say there are only two houses with transients living in them."

The transients are very apt to be Haitians, and nothing raises a hackle in this area like Haitians.

"A pain in the neck!" is Mr. Moore's explosive comment.

One house on Green, pointed out by other residents, is said to contain a dozen Haitian tenants. The owner of the house lives in Virginia.

"They're crowded in there illegally," Mr. Moore fumes. "Why haven't Borough authorities done anything about it?"

(Health officer David Blake says he's short-handed, and he adds that it is a delicate problem: enforcing housing codes too strictly could mean eviction, in a part of town where housing is dismayingly scarce as it is.)

Tadlock House Moved. In recent days, the big event on Green has been the moving of the Tadlock house. Willie Mae Tadlock, who is Mrs. Edwards' sister, and Mrs. Edwards purchased three houses some years ago. They planned to move one of them to the rear of another whose back part was in poor repair, in effect creating one good house. But the one in poor repair was levelled by fire. This week, Mrs. Tadlock's surviving house was slowly moved by professional house-movers so that it will have breathing space—one house on what had been a two-house space.

Drawing attention to other parts of town where changes have been proposed, Mrs. Edwards points to Hodge Road. "The entire town rose in righteous indignation" against the group that bought a mansion on that street, she says.

"Are the welfare, concerns and people of (our) neighborhood less important than those of other sections in this town?" she demands.

The AAMH, a gentle group devoted to helping people whom nobody had ever helped much before, is mildly dismayed at finding itself in this predicament.

"We'd be taking a residence and converting it to a business," Mr. Trayers sighs. "They probably have a reasonable objection."

—Katharine H. Bretnall

UNIVERSITY UPHELD

Loser May Appeal. The latest round in the court fight between Ilene Peper and Princeton University has been won by the University. Ms. Peper said this week that she hasn't yet decided whether to appeal.

The New Jersey Supreme Court has said that the University was not guilty of sex discrimination when it promoted two male employees at a more rapid rate than it promoted Ms. Peper, and when it did not promote her to a vacant position which was not filled by anyone.

Ms. Peper has 90 days from the date of the decision—July 5—to appeal her case through the Federal courts. She filed her discrimination complaint in Superior Court on February 1, 1974. She had previously resigned from the University October, 1973, after having worked there ten years.

Superior Court ruled in favor of Princeton University and Ms. Peper appealed the decision. The Appellate Division of Superior Court reversed the decision, declaring that the University had "utterly failed" to prove that sex discrimination wasn't the reason for not promoting Ms. Peper along with male employees.

Since leaving the University, Ms. Peper has formed her own firm, Banner Business Associates, 228 Alexander Street.

JAYCEES TO MEET

For Talk on Lobbying. The next meeting of the Greater Princeton Jaycees will be held at 7:30 this Wednesday in "Colross" on the Princeton Day School campus.

Nancy Becker, a professional lobbyist, will be the speaker. Ms. Becker will discuss the legislative process particularly as it applies to bill writing and lobbying in the New Jersey State House.

A brief business meeting will follow Ms. Becker's talk. All those interested in the Jaycees or in the topic of discussion are invited.

"Mousetrap" at Summer
Intime. Who is the murderer?
You can't trust anybody, especially when you're in a group of eccentrics snowbound in a remote English country house with a prying detective and somebody who enjoys "Three Blind Mice" and murder.
Well, it's Agatha Christie, of course, and the play is her renowned long-runner, "The Mousetrap." Yes, a 26-year run in London and probably still going.

It will open this Thursday at 8:30 p.m. in Murray Theatre, its run bringing to a close Summer Intime's 11th season of summer theatre. "The Mousetrap" will play this week-end, August 17-20 and, finally, August 24-27. Sunday's curtain-time is 8:30.

Susie Lewis is directing.
Dale Coye, a member of the cast (he plays the architect with the improbable name of Christopher Wren), is a doctoral student in linguistics at Princeton and he is coaching his colleagues in the accents of British speech, rather like a Henry Higgins.

Besides Mr. Coye, there are Nan Bleemer and Len Galla, as an apprehensive young couple renting out their Stately Home for the first time to this strange group of guests; Shirley Kauffman, as one of the more disagreeable guests; Paul Lawrence as an Italian visitor; Clayton Platt, portraying a proper Major;
Katherine Barry in the role of the mannish Miss Casewell and Jamie Horton as the detective.

'MY FAIR LADY' AT THE LAKE: One of the world's best-known musicals will be presented August 17, 18 and 19 at Theatre by the Lake in Hightstown. In one of the scenes are Rich Hutchinson as Henry Higgins, Eric Metz (Alfred P. Doolittle), Liz Challenger (Eliza) and Wayne Carter (Pickering).

"MY FAIR LADY"

At Theatre-by-the-Lake. Everybody knows the rain in Spain stays mainly in the plain, but you may refresh your knowledge with a production of "My Fair Lady" which will be the Saturday, August 19, with summer's grand finale for performances scheduled Theatre-by-the-Lake in through August 26. Locations will be announced next week.

The musical will play next Thursday, Friday and about two middle-aged Saturday, August 17, 18 and 19 housewives who set up a in the indoor auditorium of lemonade stand to bring some excitement into their lives, the Geiger-Reeves Hall on the Peddie School campus. actors will be Ellen Pearl and Diane Markee.

Songs, besides the one about the rain in Spain, include "Get Me to the Church on Time," "I've Grown Accustomed to Her Face," "Wouldn't It Be Lovely?" and so on and soon.

Director Jeffrey Holcombe has Rich Hutchinson as his Professor Henry Higgins, the dialect expert who bets he can coach a Cockney flower-girl and pass her off as royalty. Eliza, the flower-girl, will be Elisabeth Challenger.

Eliza's father, Alfred P. Doolittle, will be played by K. Eric Metz and Professor Higgins' crony, Colonel Pickering, will be Wayne Carter.

Lauren Intravotola has designed the choreography and Paul Faloona, the lighting. Ron Brockway is the set designer.

BERGMAN, LAWRENCE

Kresge Double Bill. "Cries and Whispers," the Ingmar Bergman film, will be shown this week-end on a double bill with an adaptation of the D.H. Lawrence novel, "Women in Love," at Kresge Auditorium. McCarter Theatre is the sponsor.

In "Cries and Whispers," Bergman explores the relationships among three sisters and their housekeeper. Released in 1972, the film was Bergman's first in color, and has been accepted as one of his masterpieces. Liv Ullman, Harriet Andersson, Ingrid Thulin and Karen Sylwan star.

"Women in Love" has Glenda Jackson and Jennie Linden as two sisters struggling against the restrictions of a small mining town in England and the rigidity of sexual mores and the class structure. Alan Bates and Oliver Reed are the two men in their lives. Glenda Jackson won the 1970 Academy Award as Best Actress for this performance.

This Wednesday, Thursday and Sunday, "Cries and Whispers" will be shown at 7:30 and "Women in Love" at 9:15. Friday and Saturday, show times will be 8 p.m. and 9:45 respectively.

THE SKITISH EMPIRE

PLANET OF THE—UH—APES? Try again. It's a pair of spoolers from a new cabaret revue ensemble called The Skitish Empire. You've seen some of them before—minus the ape masks—in productions by P.J. & B., Community Players, Opera Association, etc. You can catch their act this Friday and August 18 and 25 at 8 and 10 p.m. at the Holiday Inn.

News of the Theatres

games of war, will feature Bob Perdue, John Wible and Jenni Vadebonneur.

"Date," which is concerned with the loneliness of old age and the gap between generations, will be presented by Diane Markee, Megan Pensack, Ellen Pearl and John Wible.

COOL MOVIES

Newman, Sinatra, Hepburn. This Wednesday at 8 p.m., it's Paul Newman in "Cool Hand Luke" in McCormick Art Museum, under the auspices of Summer Intime. This is the one where he stars as a rebellious chaingang prisoner, a somewhat unlikely piece of casting.

Then on Monday, same time and place, Intime will screen the Damon Runyon musical, "Guys and Dolls," which as Marlon Brando, Jean Simmons and Frank Sinatra.

Next Tuesday, Hepburn—Audrey, that is—will appear in the suspense film called "Wait Until Dark," about the blind woman terrorized by three thugs. Alan Arkin is one of them.

Tickets are $1.50 at the door.

"SKITISH EMPIRE"

Cabaret-Revue. Singers and performers who have appeared in a variety of productions in the Princeton area have joined to form "The Skitish Empire," and they'll give three shows—each one different—on three successive Friday nights, starting this Friday, at the Holiday Inn on Route One. Show times are 8 and 10 p.m.

Skits and songs will be original—many of them, at least—from the talents of local writers and professional comedy writers.

Among the performers will be William Agress and Brent Monahan, who played in P.J. & B.'s "Brigadoon" and Princeton Community Players' "Boys in the Band."

Monahan also played the Caliph in the Princeton Opera Association "Kismet", and Agress was in Hamburger Theatre's "The Fantasticks" with Rick Bossman, who is also in The Skitish Empire. Bossman was Don Quixote in Artist Showcases' "Man of La Mancha." Another Skitisher is Joanne Rubay, an accompanist who has played for shows and recitals throughout the area.

TRIP TO HAWAII IS THE PRIZE: Associates of the Boychoir School of Princeton will raffle a trip for two to Hawaii in conjunction with an August 24 performance here by the Honolulu Boy Choir at the Lambert Road home of the Columbus Boychoir. Getting into the mood for the trip or the luau reception to follow the evening performance are Associates, from left, Mrs. Laura Hayes, Mrs. Martha Sollenberger, Mrs. Alison Hankinson, Mrs. Thelma Young, chairman, Mrs. Beth Scenlon, Mrs. Beverly Silverman and Mrs. Ruth Plum.

BOYCHOIR DUE
From Hawaii. The Columbus Boychoir of Princeton will be host to the 75-voice Honolulu Boy Choir for two concerts in Princeton on Thursday, August 24. The Hawaiian Boychoir, whose conductor is Westminster Choir College graduate Roy Hallman, will perform Americana music and native Hawaiian music which includes the traditional fire dance and saher dance songs.

the band are Todd Logan, bass guitar; Jim Allington, drums; Danny Coleman, trumpet; and Steve Bernstein, saxophone.

There will be a one-hour concert at 4 p.m. for adults and children at $3 and $1 respectively, followed by a full evening concert at 8 p.m. which will include an Hawaiian luau reception immediately following. The evening program will include over 200 door prizes to be given out, including the fresh flowers and pineapples flown in for the occasion, an Hawaiian lei for each guest.

The reception will include Hawaiian foods and punches created by the Royal Hawaiian Hotel on Honolulu.

MUSIC

In Princeton

Donations will be $10 for adults and $5 for children for the evening performance. The Honolulu Boychoir will be performing in San Francisco, Washington and New York before the Princeton residency and will be in Toronto for 10 days thereafter.

The Associates of the Columbus Boychoir, headed by Mrs. Thelma Young, are sponsoring the sale of raffle tickets throughout the community for a round-trip for two to Hawaii. The Associates will also be helping locate overnight accommodations for the 75 boys in the Princeton area. Call the Columbus Boychoir, 924-5858, or Westminster Choir College, 921-3200, for concert tickets or offers to provide overnight accommodations for two to three nights while the Honolulu Boy Choir is in the area.

CONCERT POSTPONED

Now Set for This Friday. The rock-disco concert scheduled for last week was postponed until this Friday because of wet weather.

Lotus Blossom, a relatively new band on the rock-disco scene, will play at Community Park Field at 7:30. Blankets and camp chairs are advised.

This concert is the third in a series of free, outdoor concerts produced by Summer Sounds. The first two were well received by the Princeton community and drew about 500 each.

Dennis Alexander founded Lotus Blossom and composes the songs played by the band. A Princeton resident, he sings lead vocals and plays the keyboards. Other members of

Township Committee Debates, Then Postpones Decision on Federal Aid for Autumn Hill Sewers

The question of whether to apply for Federal funds to install sewers for Autumn Hill Road residents or to go it alone occupied Township Committee last week, and after some debate, it decided—for the moment—to do neither.

Thomas S. Fulmer, 99 Poe Road, had drafted a letter requesting that Committee act to try to place the project on the government's 1979 priority list. He had reacted to an article in TOWN TOPICS, he said, the tenor of which was get on the list now or forget about next year.

Committee, however, approved the motion of Committeeman Hugo Hoogenboom to table the request until a public session. It was scheduled by Mayor Josie Hall for September 13—"time," she told Mr. Fulmer, "to get your forces together."

Just previously, Mr. Hoogenboom had commented that although he realized there were those who would like to develop their property on Autumn Hill Road, "I have heard no compelling need for installing a sewer system. I retain some doubts. I have second thoughts about the Heather Lane implications and it cannot possibly help the Township to be coming in a piecemeal way: a project here, a project there."

Viewpoints Differ. Earlier, a review by Administrator Joseph Nini of two separate requests to Committee in the past to construct sewers on Autumn Hill Road always narrowed down, he reported, to two groups: those living on Autumn Hill who were satisfied with conditions the way they are, and those who own lots, and want to build but cannot obtain potable water and satisfactory percolation tests.

Mayor Hall noted that while free engineering and consulting and 75 percent funding become available through the federal government, hazards include "red tape and a five-or-six year delay." If the Township were to construct the sewers and assess property owners, the project would be finished sooner, she predicted.

The mayor kept coming back to a solution she favored whereby lot owners might get their sewers without assessing those who live in the area and have good functioning septic systems.

In addition, there are topographical and environmental complications. The area sits atop a ridge of diabase rock. Rahah Shahbender, 107 Autumn Hill, who quipped to Committee that he would like to see it petition the United Nations and push the project 100 years out rather than 10, said his well was 338 feet deep and of low yield. "I feel the water supply would be diminished if you drill more wells."

Mrs. Oliver Plantinga, who lives next door at 123, countered by saying that her well through the diabase is much shallower, and gives her all the water she needs. "You just don't know until you try," she said.

Committee itself was divided over writing to try to get on the government's priority list. Said member William Cherry, "I'm partial to writing a letter since it involves no commitment."

"I'm not inclined to ask for Federal aid," commented Committeewoman Kate Litvak, and Mayor Hall remarked that she felt it was a waste of time. "I honestly don't think the Federal government is interested in a project this size."

Mr. Fulmer asked if failure to get Federal assistance meant abandonment of the project by the Township. "Not getting on any list doesn't preclude any consideration by the Township," he was told. When Autumn Hill resident Albert Beaton told Mr. Fulmer that he had not seen a petition, Mr. Fulmer replied that he had circulated it only to those who would benefit.

Consolidation Signatures Obtained. The number of valid signatures needed in the Township—553—to place the consolidation study commission referendum on the November ballot was easily reached.

Mr. Nini reported that 964 valid signatures were obtained. Both Borough and Township will fill five positions on the commission. Six in the Township have announced they plan to run and Mayor Hall commented that she would like to see more: "A real choice is desirable."

"However desirable consolidation may be, the outcome may depend on the quality of candidates," remarked Mr. Cherry.

PRC in Control. Committee reacted favorably to a formal request by the Princeton Recreation Board to assume full responsibility for the entire north side of Community Park—stating, however, that any action should be subject to concurrence by Borough Council. "It makes sense to administer the park this way," said Mrs. Litvak. Police would retain jurisdiction over a fitness trail that the Princeton Jaycees have started to build and for which they have already begun to solicit funds. (TOWN TOPICS, August 2.)

Committee also said yes to a proposal by Market Survey & Research Corporation of Mount Lucas Road involving the improvement and upkeep of a pond which is partially on the firm's property and partially on two other lots.

An existing dam and spillway is in need of repair. In essence, Marketing Survey agreed to pay half the cost to repair and maintain the pond—and it put $7500 in escrow for that purpose. But it felt it should not be required to pay the entire cost.

Mr. Cherry didn't like the idea of forcing such an agreement on someone else, but attorney Gordon Griffin said that local improvement costs can be assessed against benefitting property owners.

Involved Busing Plan. A request by the YMCA to bus 10 students from Riverside and Littlebrook schools to an after-school program at the Y was acted upon favorably by Committee.

The School Board balked when approached by the Y, saying it was not permitted to bus the students. However, if the Township were to enter into a contract with the Y wherein the Y would agree to bear all costs and the Township would then ask the school board to provide the transportation, the school board would accept such a third-party agreement. "I think it would be much simpler if the Y and school board got together," remarked Mrs. Litvak.

Road Improvement. An ordinance providing $16,500 to repave portions of Mount Lucas Road, Ewing Street and Riverside Drive W. was introduced (public hearing August 16.) "I wish we could do more, but no state funds are available today," said Mayor Hall, and the Traffic Safety Committee recommended to Committee that Poor Farm, Herrontown and Autumn Hill roads be improved. Because of all the construction in the area, including the public housing complex, Mayor Hall advised Committee: "I think we should wait until we have more information."

Ready For Snow. Committee accepted the recommendation of Mr. Nini that it accept the $36,000 bid of International Harvester of Trenton for two dump trucks, two snow plows and two spreaders—the firm was the only one to bid on all six pieces of equipment—and it voted to accept the $54,629 bid of Schuette Contractors, a Cherry Hill boiler, to erect a wooden amphitheater on the

Township Seeks to Assess Property Owners for Construction Of Sidewalks But Finds Ordinance Omitted Mention of Them

How does it go? For the sake of a nail, the battle was lost.... Township Committee discovered last week that for the sake of a word, $16,125 was lost. On the other side of the coin, five property owners saved amounts varying from $1,400 to more than $8,000.

An interesting question came up July 5 when the Township Engineer's office began to prepare a resolution to assess property owners for the construction of sidewalks when Bunn Drive was built in 1975. It was discovered that no ordinance had been adopted by Committee for such an assessment. The matter was referred to Township attorney Gordon Griffin.

"If there is no ordinance, the job cannot be assessed," Mr. Griffin stated, pointing out Committee could do one of two things: pass an ordinance now-betadely-or drop the matter.

Assistant Township Engineer Bhagwan Dass insisted that sidewalks were included in the roadway assessment and were listed in the construction contract. "The sidewalks were considered to be one of the road improvements" he said.

"Trouble is," replied Mr. Griffin, "the ordinance doesn't say that." And as Mr. Griffin read the enabling $525,000 ordinance that was introduced in April, 1972, and passed May 1, it was indeed evident the word "sidewalks" had been left out.

"I think it is a shame it happened," he said. "Without a doubt, it was never intended."

"What are you telling us?" asked Committeeman William Cherry.

"I'm telling you you should swallow the sidewalks," Mr. Griffin replied.

"I certainly don't like that solution," Mr. Cherry shot back.

Agreeing that the project was not assessable if it was never legally ordinance. Committee member Kate Litvak moved Committee disapprove the engineering department's assessment resolution. It was, 3-1, with Mr. Cherry dissenting.

And perhaps it wasn't that big a mistake after all. The normal policy in sidewalk assessment, Mr. Griffin pointed out, is for the Township to pay half the costs.

Five property-owners are involved: Princeton Community Housing, Inc.; Thanet; Princeton Executive Park; the M. M. T. Lucas Company and American Can. Assessments are made using a front-footage formula, Thanet, with the least footage—340 feet—now won't have to pay $1,400. American Can with the most footage—1,974—has a saving of $8,126.71, PCH can keep $2,091 in the bank.

Mayor Josie Hall had the last word: "It's a slip I don't think we'll make another time."

north side of Community Park.

The Schuette corporation is unable to meet a 90-day completion requirement because of a problem in getting lumber in time from its supplier, and Committee agreed to a 120-day clause. The only other bidder submitted a figure of $66,815, which exceeded the Township's appropriation.

NO VACATION IN SIGHT

For Princeton Thieves. When John Kelsey of 9 Pardoe Road parked his car in front of Township Hall and Township Police headquarters one recent evening, he may have figured he had picked the safest place in town to park.

Wrong. When he returned about three hours later, he discovered a 40-channel, citizen's band radio, valued at $60, had been stolen from the premises by the thief or car. "Things are getting pretty bad when they come right down to the police station," remarked Township Chief Frederick Porter.

Brazen thievery of various sorts helped fill the Township and Borough police blotters this week.

A couple on Wiggins Street reported the loss of a purse, containing $15 in cash, a man's wallet, containing $100 in cash, and a Pentax camera, valued at $300, all taken from their bedroom while they were asleep last Saturday.

Also last Friday a Maclean Street resident reported that someone had broken into his house while he was away on vacation. The first and second floors of the house had been ransacked. Stolen were $150 in change from two piggy banks, an air conditioner, and a bottle of Scotch. The resident reported that scotch, wine, and rye had been consumed on Heavy Operators. Some strong-armed thieves broke into the offices of Health Planning and Development Inc. at 32 Nassau Street Monday night and removed a 250-pound safe and 2 IBM selectric typewriters. Police said no money was in the safe.

The theft occurred sometime between 5:45 and 9:56, when cleaning people entered the building and noticed that doorknobs had been pried off. Sgt. Thomas Michaud is investigating.

The Lawrence Fuel Oil Company reported the theft of two heating pumps, weighing 200 pounds apiece and valued at $1,150 each, from a construction site on Cordova Road in Princeton Township. The theft took place sometime between 5 p.m. on July 28 and 2 p.m. on August 1.

Red Cross Meets Sudden Shortage of Blood; Need for Volunteer Donors Continues Acute

The Princeton Red Cross has reported that it met a severe blood emergency last week and "very likely saved lives in the process," but, according to Mrs. Alan Tredennick, head of the chapter's blood program, "We were on the ragged edge!"

Emergency appeals by radio, coupled with urgent calls from the Red Cross office, solved the shortage. The emergency was caused by a serious automobile accident and two ruptured aneurisms which occurred within a short space of time, the Red Cross said, resulting in a severe drain on the normal blood resources of the Princeton Medical Center.

"We are proud of the unique and outstanding blood program sponsored by the Red Cross in cooperation with the Medical Center," Mrs. Tredennick said, "but the need increases constantly with the growth of the area served and with the expansion of the Medical Center." She said that the blood needs of the Medical Center for the three-month period of May, June New Jersey and nearby areas and July was 37 percent of Pennsylvania, but some greater than for the same were from as far away as period a year ago. The South Carolina, Florida, Princeton Red Cross chapter Indiana, Michigan and serves the greater Princeton Minnesota.

In addition to the blood made available at the Medical Center, there are 53 companies and groups of employees with more than 17,000 employees who participate in the Red Cross group plan. When 20 percent or more of the employees of the cooperating firms give blood on an annual basis, all of the employees and all of their immediate family members have their possible blood needs protected by the Red Cross. Most of the employee groups give blood when the bloodmobile of the New Jersey Blood Services pays its visit. This, too, is a program administered by the Princeton Chapter of the Red Cross.

The blood given by donors in this area at the Medical Center alone would have a cash value of approximately $262,000 if patients had to buy it on the open market. The Red Cross blood program operates around-the-clock.

During the past year, blood in needed amounts was made available to 817 individuals at the Medical Center from 118 different communities. The great majority of those receiving blood were from "The need continues and we urgently need more donors," said Mrs. Tredennick. All able-bodied men and women from 17 through 65 age are eligible to give.

"They will be helping themselves and their neighbors through this life-giving service," she said. To make arrangements, call the Red Cross at 924-2404.

LET'S TALK ABOUT

WHY TREES SHED LEAVES IN SUMMER:

Excessive Leaf Drop A Trouble Sign

by Sam deTuro

For several weeks many varieties of shade trees have been shedding summer-green leaves

This has been particularly true with shallow-rooted Maples. If leaf drop is moderate, do not be concerned. With the onset of hot, dry weather, this is nature's way of balancing root and crown when there is insufficient soil moisture to supply all the leaves the tree put forth during the wet spring.

When leaf fall is heavy on any tree, ask a tree specialist to look for the cause. It could be due to an attack by aphids, mites, scale insects, or leaf fungi.

Excessive leaf shedding reduces a tree's vigor. Such trees should be watered well during dry spells. Mulches conserve soil moisture and prevent roots from being "cooked" by the hot sun. Feeding is always recommended. Liquid invigoration is now being widely used on many trees during summer months. This means injecting liquid nutrients into the root area. It serves three purposes: feeding the tree with a quick stimulant, getting water into the root area, and breaking up compacted soil.

NEXT WEEK: MITES IN HOT WEATHER ARE DAMAGING MANY SHADE TREES.

Someone apparently needed new tires and wheels for a car. So they (he, or she) went down to Princeton Chrysler-Plymouth on State Road sometime between 4 p.m. on July 29 and 12:53 a.m. on July 31, jacked up the rear of a 1978 Plymouth Volare station wagon, took off both rear wheels, and then let the car down on its brake drums. The tires and wheels were valued at $150. Patrolman Renn Kaminski investigated for Township Police.

Wallets, Speakers, Etc. The theft of a green leather wallet, containing $110 in travelers checks was reported by a student at the Westminster Choir College. The victim told police she left the key to her room in the door. The theft occurred between 5:30 p.m. on July 31 and 8:30 a.m. on August 1.

A graduate student at Princeton University reported the loss last Friday afternoon of $300 in $20 bills. The student said he had left the wallet on his dresser in his room while he went to play tennis. Nothing appeared to be disturbed upon his return, but when he later dipped into his pocket for some money he discovered that the wallet was bare.

Aret Kalayjian, of 106 Taylor Terrace in Hopewell, left his 35 mm. camera, valued at $250, on the lawn near the Community Park swimming pool, while he went in for a swim. Patrolman Walter Emann investigated this inevitable theft, which occurred on July 26.

Sometime between 11 p.m. on August 1 and 2:45 p.m. on August 2 two speakers were

JOINS PAINE WEBBER

In Princeton Office, Tristram B. Johnson of 84 Hun Road has joined the Princeton office of Paine Webber Jackson & Curtis in its temporary quarters at 195 Nassau Street. The Paine Webber office will occupy the ground floor of the Benson building at Witherspoon and Spring streets when it is completed next year.

The new position marks a return to Princeton for Mr. Johnson, who was the founding co-manager in 1952 of Laidlaw & Co. which took over the lease in the First National Bank Building of the Tristram B. Johnson Company. Mr. Johnson was associated with Kidder Peabody in Newark from 1962-67 and for the past ten years has been with Hornblower & Weeks, Hemphill-Noyes in Trenton. That firm merged this year to become Loeb Rhoades Hornblower, and the Trenton office is expected to move to Research Park, Lawrence Township, in the fall.

Mr. Johnson is recognized as an authority on tax exempt bonds, particularly those free from New Jersey state as well as Federal income taxes. He represented Hornblower & Weeks-Hemphill, Noyes as investment banker for the Stony Brook Regional Sewerage Authority and assisted in the completion of a $11.8 million bond financing in 1975 and an $18 million refinancing in November, 1977.

For the last nine years, he was elected annually to the Management Advisory Board of Hornblower & Weeks, in recognition of his production, and was among the first recipients in 1974 of the Howard E. Buhse MAB Espirit de Corps Award given for professionalism in service to clients, building the morale of his associates and in suggesting management initiatives.

A native of Princeton, Mr. Johnson served six years on Borough Council, including several months as acting mayor during Mayor Sturges' final term of office. He has also been chairman of the United Fund Drive and with other community organizations.

Mrs. Marie Kaoll of Westfield, a registered representative, has returned as associate to Mr. Johnson, a position she held for nine years at Hornblower & Weeks.

SURVEY UNDER WAY

On Employment in This Area. One hundred questionnaires have been mailed to business and industrial firms and government employers in conjunction with a needs assessment study by the Mercer County Area Vocational-Technical Schools to determine the job needs of both students and employers.

The questionnaire asks employers to estimate the number of workers they expect to have "one year from now and three years from now." It inquires about "hard-to-fill jobs" and the reasons why those jobs are unfilled.

The survey also lists a table which includes several jobs under the categories of "Agriculture and Natural Resources," "Business and Office," "Communication and Media," "Construction," "Food Services-Hospitality," "Health Services," "Manufacturing and Product Services," "Marketing and Distribution," "Personal Services," "Public and Community Service," "Technology," and "Transportation." The employer is asked the number of workers for the particular job included in each of the categories, along with estimates of long-range employment possibilities.

The final section of the survey inquires about "training information." It contains questions about employees' educational background, turnover in entry-level positions, the need for part-time or seasonal help and the extent to which organizations now use existing programs offered by the Mercer County Area Vocational-Technical Schools to meet their training needs.

Inventor Who Works Out of Murray Place Home, Specializing in Plastics, Now Has 20th Patent

The best inventions--those that have a chance of succeeding in the commercial world--are often those that seem so simple one wonders why "someone didn't think of that before."

E. Allan Blair is an inventor and a chemist specializing in plastics who works out of his home at 28 Murray Place. Dr. Blair has just received his 20th patent, for "a method of rotational molding about plural axes at low rotational speeds," which he says is "idiotically simple." In fact, the process is rather like coating the inside of an Easter bunny mold with chocolate by tipping the mold to let the melted chocolate flow to all parts before it hardens.

As he describes his method more scientifically, "A liquid mixture of chemicals which react to form a plastic is placed in a mold, and the mold is rotated in two mutually perpendicular axes at room temperature. The liquid flows over the entire inside surface of the mold and then reacts to form a hollow plastic object having the shape of the mold. Since the process requires neither heat nor pressure, as do other plastic molding processes, the equipment and mold costs and power consumption are remarkably low."

Dr. Blair made his first demonstration of the method with an erector set. He says it INVENTOR: Dr. E. Allen Blair has a series of chemical and plastic inventions to his credit, including a method for the rotational molding of plastic which he believes has numerous commercial applications. The method does not require heat or pressure as does conventional plastic molding and could result in savings on equipment and energy.

Business in Princeton

is possible to make products of very large size with cheap and simple equipment and molds. Among the applications are molded hulls for boats, tank linings, computer housings, automotive body parts, electrical equipment housings, musical instrument cases and pipe linings.

Valuable Only If Marketed. Guided by his philosophy that "an invention per se is not worth anything—it is only when it has been made into a successful business that it is worth something," Dr. Blair has founded a company called Monster Molding, Inc. to exploit the method. The adjective "Monster" is used because he thinks his method can be used to best advantage in making big items. In conventional molding, he says, the size of the machine to make it goes up exponentially with the size of the part being made.

This is not so in his invention. He told his investors semi-jokingly that the business would be in "monster" parts, and the adjective stuck as the name of the company. As president of Monster Molding he spends most of his days calling on manufacturers and asking to show how the process will cut their costs in half.

He has his eye on the automotive market in particular, because he thinks that the automobile industry is committed to cutting weight from cars "as the only way left to save fuel." "There isn't a conventional plastics molding machine big enough to make a car fender," he says, adding that he has built "several" machines that are.

Mattress to Prevent Bed Sores. Another of Dr. Blair's inventions, the one he calls "one of my proudest achievements as a scientist," is a mattress for preventing bed sores in the chronically ill. The mattress is currently in use at Merwick and other area hospitals and nursing homes. "I took something in which I knew there was a problem in the urethane foam and figured out an answer so that it would do the job of a water bed—but even better."

Dr. Blair says that "the right firmness" is the key to its success, but the promotional literature put out by the Medic-Ease Corporation of America which he founded on Route 1 to manufacture and sell the Medic-Ease Therapeutic Mattress, described it as being "specially incised to permit optimal distribution of body weight, resulting in extremely low pressures against bony prominences in a variety of positions."

Medic-Ease Corporation no longer exists on Route 1. Having been granted the patent in 1972, Dr. Blair sold the rights to ARCO Medical Products, a division of Atlantic Richfield Oil, which is currently making the mattress.

Dr. Blair was granted his first patent in 1955 for a chemical process which converted sassafras oil into heliotrope fragrance. Other inventions range from plastics for soft contact lenses to plastic sponges that stay soft when dry. He has devised new materials for artificial leather and a plastic medium for the air filters of lawn mower engines.

A Chemist by Training. He is the inventor of high temperature plastics in commercial use by Sun Oil Company and a device for the controlled release of drugs. Dr. Blair received his B.S. at Vanderbilt and his Ph.D. in chemistry from the University of Pennsylvania. Formerly director of research at a Tenneco Chemical Plant, he came to Princeton in 1969 to free lance as a consultant and has worked out of his home ever since.

Dr. Blair thinks that fewer than one in a hundred patents are commercialized, and only one in ten of these become a business success. He plans to continue working on improvements and details of the most recent invention, the rotational molding process.

For him, inventing something is usually a chance falling in place of different pieces of information. Someone will describe a problem or ask a question, and other applications, other answers to other problems, other ideas he has been working on, will converge to form a new solution.

As he talks about it, it all sounds so simple.

Injuries Are Often Emotional.

To the Editor of Town Topics:
I want to commend TOWN TOPICS for publishing (July 16) the police composite drawing of the man who assaulted a visitor on the Princeton University campus. I thought TOWN TOPICS also displayed excellent journalistic ethics in retaining the anonymity of the victim.

However, I must take strong exception to the phrase, "The victim was not injured but was taken to the Princeton Medical Center for examination." The injury from sexual assault comes not only from physical brutality, or forced or attempted vaginal, oral or anal entry, but also from the emotional violence of any forced sexual encounter. Many studies show that victims feel the worst aspect of sexual assault is the emotional after effects. Sensitivity to the emotional injury as well as the physical injury arising from sexual assault would improve the accuracy of reporting on this social problem.

'HEAVY SENTENCE' SET In Hopewell Case. A 21-year-old Township and a security of old Hopewell man, who had ficer for a Trenton hospital, been given "a break" by He was selected from a list of Judge A. Jerome Moore last applicants which took the October, last week was given most recent examination for an indeterminate sentence of patrol officer.

as many as 24 years in the Yardville Youth Reception and Correction Center.

Archie O. Servis of Model Avenue, Hopewell, had pleaded guilty to two malicious burning charges, 20 charges, 10 larceny charges, possession of a weapon without a permit, and a probation violation.

At the sentencing, Judge Moore reminded Mr. Servis of the day in October, when the judge was planning to sentence the man, who police say was the ringleader of a gang of vandals in Hopewell, for several breaking and entering charges. At that time the judge delayed the sentencing over a week-end to allow Mr. Servis to "get his personal affairs together."

That was Halloween weekend. Police charge that Mr. Servis spent his time setting fire to a police officer's car and the J.B. Hill Lumber Company, and then fleeing to Arizona, where he was arrested for breaking into an auto.

Hopewell police charged that he also stole a car and liquor and once broke into the police department and stole a marijuana plant that had been confiscated in another case.

'Total Disregard.' "Because of that conduct and the total disregard for the legal processes of the state, I've imposed this heavy sentence on you," Judge Moore said. "I shouldn't have given you a break in the first place."

The defendant asked if he could serve his time in the Mercer County Workhouse instead of the Yardville facility, where, he claimed, his life would be in danger. The judge said the crimes were too serious and denied the request.

"I've given you an indeterminate sentence at money raised from this annual Yardville rather than a event.

The site of show is the New Prison," said Judge Moore, Hope-Solebury High School "because there is no field on Route 179 in the heart minimum time involved. At of New Hope. Free parking is Yardville, the most time you provided can serve is 24 years. And, if you improve yourself, institution officials can release you at their discretion.

"It's up to you as to when you get out."

NEW OFFICER NAMED To Borough Police Force. John D. Reading, 27, of Trenton has been named a probationary patrolman on the Borough police department, filling a vacancy created when Ptl. John Holcombe resigned July 13, after serving five years, to enter private employment.

Mr. Reading was formerly a special officer in Hopewell

In New Hope Show. Rare automobiles will the rule and not the exception at the 21st annual New Hope Automobile Show Saturday and Sunday in New Hope, Pennsylvania.

Among the early entrants are a 1903 Cadillac owned by Charles Moore of Lancaster, Pennsylvania, and a 1918 Biddle Roadster belonging to David Checkoff of Huntingdon Valley, Pennsylvania. Both automobiles are National Senior Award winners of the Antique Automobile Club of America.

Classic car aficionados will find such rare models as a 1933 Lea Francis Touring Car, a 1927 Franklin Doctors Coupe and a 1927 Mormon on exhibition during the weekend event that annually attracts some 1800 expertly-restored and perfectly-maintained examples of the automotive art. The weekend will also feature one of the largest automotive flea markets on the east coast. Vendors, buyers and browsers from all over will buy, trade and sell hard-to-find parts and automotive memorabilia. Arts and crafts from the New Hope area will lead a country fair atmosphere to the occasion.

Highlight of both days will be New Hope's Victory Lane awards ceremony. Owners of automobiles qualifying for the show's trophies will drive their prize-winning models in a parade before those in attendance.

Sponsored by the New Hope-Solebury Community Association, the show's proceeds are used to underwrite the Association's recreational and educational programs. In 1977, the troupe was able to purchase land and begin to plan a complete recreational complex with money raised from this annual Yardville rather than a event.

The deputy clerk will handle those duties, in addition to her current ones, until after the November election, when a new clerk takes office

Which baseball pitcher has thrown the fastest fast-ball in history, based on official timing? ... The answer is Nolan Ryan... One of Ryan's pitches was officially timed at 101 miles per hour in 1974 for the all-time record.

Strange, but true: ... This year's winner of the U.S. Open golf championship, Andy North, became a golfer only because of a serious illness ... North was stricken with a rare disease when he was in the 7th grade in Madison, Wis., as a bone in his knee stopped growing and was disintegrating ... He was told to give up his favorite sports of football and basketball--but his doctor told him he could play golf if he rode in a cart ... That's why he took up golf, and the rest is history.

If you're wondering who's going to win the World Series in 1978, you might keep this fact in mind ... A team from the American League has won the World Series EVERY YEAR ending in a "8" for the last 60 years ... The Red Sox won it in 1918, the Yankees in 1928 and 1938, the Indians in 1948, the Yankees in 1948 and the Tigers in 1968.

THREE ARE TIED

In Race for Top Spot. With only one game remaining before the start of the playoffs, Norelco jumped into a tie for the American Division lead in the Business Softball League, edging McGraw-Hill, 9-8. Norelco (10-3) shares the lead with McGraw-Hill and Cities Service, but may get the easier berth in the playoffs by virtue of scoring more runs during the regular season.

Eight teams from the entire league will make the playoffs, the first and second place teams from each division and the two third place teams with the best record. Eleven teams still had playoff hopes as the week began.

In other American Division action, Cities Service turned back CY-PACE, 10-8, and FMC kept alive by routing PARC, 10-1.

ETS remained undefeated in the National Division with a strong 17-3 win over NL Industries. Squibb dropped out of second place by losing to GFDL, 16-3, while American Can bowled over Mathematica, 17-3. ERC posted its second win of the season by crushing Ingersoll Rand, 18-2.

In the Continental Division, Firmenich shut out Tubesales, 6-0, PPL buried EMR, 22-1, and RCA swamped Johnson and Johnson, 18-4.

round of the Princeton Adult Softball League. A best-of-five series is under way.

Conte's moved out to a 1-0 lead in the third on a wrong-field homer by lead-off batter Mike Boonin, who went on to a 4-for-4 day at the plate. Center Sports drew even an inning later largely on the strength of a hit by Ray Pettus and a sacrifice fly by Jackie Petrone.

Another homer for Conte's, this one by Greg Robinson to lead off the fifth, made it 2-1 but the victors then wrapped matters up with a three-run rally in the bottom half of the inning. Half a dozen singles (Jamie and Jeff Petrone, Pettus, Pat Kahny, Brendon Layton and Dave Sweeney) and Mario DeVincenzi's sacrifice fly did the trick.

The victors' added an insurance run in the next round on a double by Jack Petrone, Lou John Rossi's single and another sacrifice fly, offsetting a final tally in the top of the seventh by Conte's. Rossi was the winning pitcher, with Jeff Grover the loser.

Earlier last week, Center Sports took the rubber game in a three-set series from Continental Square Club, 8-4, to reach the final round. The winners broke out quickly with a 3-1 lead but C.S.C. tied the action at 4 when pitcher Pete Young tripled with a man aboard and then scored on a fly to the outfield.

Center Sports then iced the decision on singles by Pettus, Jack Petrone and Greg Kline, followed by a blast to left center by Rossi that scored them all. The two Petrones, Rossi and Layton all had two hits apiece for the winners, while Kevin Marshall, Darryl Boone and Young led the C.S.C. offense.

DOUBLES TEAM UPSET

In Community Tennis. Unseeded Vera Jessor and Kevin Little won the Princeton Community's Mixed Doubles Tournament by defeating the number three seeds, Ginny Smith and Neil Callahan, 6-1, 6-1. Jessor and Little, both instructors in the five-day summer training program of the Princeton Community Tennis Program, surprised the fourth seeded couple, Moyer and Wickenden, 6-4, 2-6-0. They moved on to beat McCurdy and McCallum, the first seeds in the semi-finals.

Jessor plays on the junior varsity team at Princeton University and Little played on the varsity tennis team at John Hopkins University.

This event drew many advanced players, including Bill Foreman and Carrie Balcomb, who lost in the semi-finals to Callahan and Smith. In a consolation round, the Kimballs defeated the couple of Brown-Rohamish, 4-6, 6-4, 6-2.

A strong field of players entered the Community's Men's Doubles. The top seeds were Jack McCarthy and Scott Stoner, and David Benjamin and Royce Flippen. Both of these teams reached the finals with McCarthy and Stoner emerging as champions, 6-2, 6-4.

WIN STREAK CONTINUES

In Exchange Matches. The young tennis players in the Princeton Community Tennis Program have remained victorious in their exchange matches this summer.

The beginners and advanced beginner players, who defeated Hopewell Country Club in an exchange match, included Jenny Cook, Steve Cook, Gail Ellis, Bruce Ellis, Mandy Schroeder, Steve Hoffman, Margaret Riddle, Kathy Zorzi, and Jimmy Zorzi.

The more advanced players in the program also played Hopewell Valley. Art Cramp's students in the summer training program defeated Hopewell Valley, 9-2. Lyle Menendez, Michael Crystal, Margaret Petrella, Lisa Howell, Lisa Litt, Paula Gibson, Sue Lengyel, Steve Hoffman, Charlie Han, Gabby Neues and Fred Haight competed in this match.

KUP STREAK STOPPED

In Women's Softball. Koffee Kup, which had won 30 straight games in the Princeton Women's Softball League dating back to early in the 1977 season, was defeated by Sweet Jersey Corn, 13-11, last Wednesday night. For the Corn, the win was especially sweet, extending its own winning streak to eight and moving it into a tie with Kup for first place.

Behind by one, the Kup scored five runs in the fourth and three errors and six straight singles. Jersey Corn stormed back with four to keep it tied at the end of four innings. The Kup scored two in the top of the fifth, but Sweet Jersey notched nine hits in their at bat, to once again take the lead. Again Koffee Kup struck back with two in the sixth but the Corn pushed another two across in the bottom of the sixth. Koffee scored two more runs in the top of the seventh before the attack--and the streak--was stopped.

For Koffee, the heroines were Cathy Rice, Jayme Edwards and Denise Craig, Dee Pearce, with three hits and three RBIs, Liz Hoffman, every Corn player hit safely to make it a true team effort.

In other games, the Zephyrs pinned an 8-7 loss on Kingston Wine, the latter suffering their seventh straight loss and possible elimination from the playoffs. Pitcher Tina Carnevale's fourth hit and Gloria Turk's game winning double pulled out the win in the last inning.

Triple-A Taxi pulled into a tie for fourth place with Ivy Inn by trouncing Landau's, 20-2, as Terri Halpin, Diane Davalos and Carol Keys batted in 10 of the runs. Ivy lost to Conte's, 10-0. The game was awarded to Conte's by the umpire on forfeiture because of harassment by Ivy fans after three innings. Community Liquors took a 15-3 win from Brener Brothers as Debbie Ficarra, Elizabeth Zingg and Kim Pope drove in eight of the runs with timely hitting.

TENNIS TOURNAMENT SET

For University Courts. The American Tennis Association will hold its national championships on the Princeton University courts Monday through Saturday of next week. Close to 1,000 entrants from all over the United States will contend for the junior and senior championships in singles and doubles matches that will begin at 9 and continue until dark each day. The entrants range in age from 10 to 50.

The ATA is a predominantly black national amateur organization with 90 clubs and affiliates and approximately 10,000 members.

The championships will be preceded on Sunday from 10 to 2 by a celebrity tournament featuring New Jersey Governor Brendan T. Byrne; former Cleveland Mayor Carl Stokes; Earl Jackson, president of IGT Travel; Frank Williams, president of Phelps Stokes Foundation; David Dinkin, city clerk of New York City; and former New Jersey Judge Golden Johnson, among others. Althea Gibson and Arthur Ashe two of the ATA's brightest stars, and U.N. Ambassador Andrew Young may also participate.

Among those seeking championships are Terrence Jackson, defending the title; Jean Burnett, Nigerian champion for the past three years and winner of the ATA crown four years ago; and New Jersey player Arthur Carrington. All of the matches, including the celebrity tournament are open to the public free of charge.

RED TOPS BLUE

In Lacrosse Playoffs, A 12-7 victory for the Red team over the Blue ten marked action in playoffs for the championship of the Summer Lacrosse League.

Alex Wert was the day's most prolific scorer, beating the Blue goalie seven times. Rob Littell was credited with three goals and an assist for the victors, while Bob Flippin added a pair.

Five players broke into the scoring column for Blue. Tallying twice each were Ron Campbell and Hal Kokes, while singletons were recorded by Morgan Mohrman, Pete Bulk and Kevin Heuring. The latter also had an assist.

NASSAU SWIMMERS WIN
1,100 in Championships. Nassau Swimming Club won the Princeton Area Swimming and Diving Association Age-Group Championship trophy with a total of 558 points. Runners-up were Valley with 384 points and Cranbury with 361.

The finals of the Championship were held last Friday in the eight-lane, 25-yard course in Princeton's Community Park Pool. Meet directors Tink Bolster and Chuck Lofgren organized and supervised the events, witnessed by a large throng of parents and spectators. There were more than 1,100 individual and 200 relay entries. Nassau swimmers, coached by Bruce Nystrom, prevailed through strong individual performances and relay depth—especially in the girls' events. Nassau set five new championship and twenty new Nassau records. The team remains unbeaten during the last three years of dual meet and championship competition.

First-place finishers for Nassau were Shelley Chu (girls 8-u 100 yd IM, 1:32.35, Nassau record; 8-u breast, 20.76, Nassau record); Ann Healy (girls 17-u 100 IM and 17-u breast, 35.6, Nassau record); Susan Harris (girls 12-u free, 27.01, Meet and Nassau record; 12-u back, 32.40, Nassau record); Sue Danielson (girls 17-u free, 25.87, Meet and Nassau record; 17-u back, 31.03, Nassau record); Ann Wawczak (girls 12-u breast, 37.55, Nassau record); and Abby Harris (girls 14-u back, 31.85, Meet record).

The winning Nassau relay teams were girls 12-u 200 medley (Susan Harris, Ann Wawczak, Sandy Danielson, Allison Fraker, 2:12.10, Meet and Nassau record); girls 8-u 100 free (Shelley Chu, Suzanne Maman, Sarah Delfeyes, Suzanne Webb); girls 10-u free (Bridget Mahoney, Becca Dyson, Peggy Bolster, Libby Burkman); and girls 17-u 200 yd free (Ann Healy, Val Van Horn, Libby Bolster, Abby Harris, 1:48.13, Meet and Nassau record).

WENGEL TAKES TITLE

At Nassau Racquet Club. Winner of the 1978 men's singles clay court championship at Nassau Racquet and Tennis Club was Doug Wengel, who defeated Terry Brown (6-2, 6-3). Wengel and Brown then teamed up to capture the men's doubles title in a close match (6-4, 7-6) against Benton Camper and Marc Knowlton.

In a 3½-hour match that took place on one of the hottest days of the summer, Joyce Clark defeated Rosemary Lewis (6-4, 4-6, 6-1) to capture the ladies' singles championship. Lewis and Clark went on to defeat Peg Warner and Dora Kinghorn (6-3, 7-5) in the ladies' doubles.

SOFTBALL BANQUET SET

For Next Friday. The third annual adult softball leagues banquet will be held next Friday, the 18th, at Covino's on Route 27 in Kendall Park.

Cocktails at 7:30 will be followed by buffet dinner, open bar, music and dancing. Tickets at $20 per person are available from all team managers. Friends and fans of Princeton softball are invited.

LEADERS LISTED

In West Windsor Tennis. Dick Dahl, John DiPolvere and Tony Zuccarello have taken the lead in the West Windsor Recreation Commission's early evening men's doubles tennis league with a total of nine points, thanks to their own efforts and the weatherman.

They began last week one point behind the leading team of Ralph Bloom, Bob Duncan and Larry Lathrop and conquered the trio of Len Caveny, Bob Nielsen and Vic Payne 6-4, 6-3. Meanwhile, the Bloom-Duncan-Lathrop team was rained out of its match, which leaves it with eight points. Also with eight and in a three way tie for second in the eight-team league are Tom Boyer, John Herman and Bernt Midland, and Ed Jordi and Pat Summers. With three weeks to go in the summer league, these four teams appear to have gained the playoffs as their nearest rivals have only four points apiece.

Ray Giudice, John Perlitz and Rich Skalinski still lead the late men's doubles league with nine points and three weeks to go. The past week brought an end to their undefeated streak as they were tied by the Frank Daniels-Mike Doyle-Paul St. George trio with each team winning one match and the time limit preventing a third set from being played.

Right behind the leaders with seven points each are Dan Allen, Carlos Barolt and Hank Jacobsohn, and Jerry Cohen, Gerry Wang and Harry Wyckoff. Another tie exists for the fourth and last playoff spot between the teams composed of Tom O'Kane, Don Rizzo and Stan Tantum and Don Birtwistle, Frank Boyle and John Lombardo. This week's action will change the standings, as four of the top five teams are in action against each other, with only the O'Kane-Rizzo-Tantum trio not playing one of the other leaders.

Applications Due. Bob Bruschi, West Windsor Recreation Director has announced that application blanks are now available for the fall men's and women's leagues and also for the 32 different tournaments that will be held beginning on Saturday, September 9. Entry to these events is restricted to West Windsor residents and there is no charge.

The deadline is August 25 with play beginning September 4. Deadline for the tournaments is August 31.

There is one major change in the rules this year in that the matches will be played as scheduled. All matches postponed must be made up by the next scheduled date or they will be forfeited. Application blanks for the two events may be obtained at either the town hall or at the library in Dutch Neck.

He also worked for Demos Shakarian, founder of Full Gospel Business Men's Fellowship International, for three years. He preaches at conventions, camps and seminars and has conducted campaigns in Latin America and Germany.

The United Methodist Church, Nassau Street and Vandeventer Avenue, has planned a Street Fair and Craft Show for Saturday, September 9 from 9 to 4 on the lawn of the church. The fair will feature handcrafted items and home-baked goods.

The Rev. Frederick Schott will return to preach Sunday at 9:30 at the Prince of Peace Lutheran Church, Hightstown Road, Princeton Junction. Pastor Schott has been on vacation for two weeks and spent a week teaching a church clinic in Virginia, and another week as a delegate to the Lutheran Church in America Convention in Chicago.

The church is air conditioned, baby sitting is provided during the service, and a coffee fellowship will follow. For further information call Pastor Schott at 799-1753 or 799-1783.

R. David Hoffelt will return again as preacher in the Chapel of Princeton University on Sunday at 10. His sermon topic will be "Why People Are Afraid of the Holy Spirit."

William Kolb of River Forest, Ill., is the new vicar at the Lutheran Church of the Messiah, 407 Nassau Street. Mr. Kolb is a graduate of the University of Chicago and is in his third year at Concordia Seminary in Ft. Wayne, Ind. He expects to graduate in the spring of 1980 and to serve in the Lutheran Church Missouri Synod.

His special responsibilities as vicar will be with the youth group and the Concordia Society.

members as "a sizeable group of dedicated people who wanted very much to pursue and continue to grow at the pace we have been growing."

A day of dedication for the new congregation in its new building is planned for September 10, the second anniversary of Mr. Owen's arrival in Princeton. A native of North Carolina, the pastor says he received Christ as Savior one week following his graduation from high school. A week later, he received the Charismatic experience, and he has been "sharing Christ for 26 years and the pentecostal baptism that literally thousands of people are receiving today."

Mr. Owens has been pastor of two churches in New Jersey and for five years served as the youth director for the Assemblies of God for the New Jersey District. He was included to participate for three successive years as an Ecumenical guest at the Catholic renewal conference in Atlantic City which some 26,000 people attended. He also worked for Demos Shakarian, founder of Full Gospel Business Men's Fellowship International, for three years. He preaches at conventions, camps and seminars and has conducted campaigns in Latin America and Germany.

Mortgage Essential. Mr. Owens expects to obtain a mortgage to help pay for his new church, and he describes its purchase as "a giant step forward. We're going to trust God to provide," he says. "There is plenty of room in which to grow, and there is a great response to the Gospel and the message of the Holy Spirit. People are enthused about the potential, and I expect to have a full house on dedication day."

Mr. Owens said that he has signed a two-year lease with the Eden Institute which would permit this program for autistic children to continue most of its operation in the education building attached to the rear of the church. Because Eden has accepted additional children for the fall and is expanding its program, part of the operation will still be moving to Dorothea House, 120 John Street, on September 1, according to a spokesman. Alcoholics Anonymous will also continue to use facilities in the education wing, said Mr. Owens.

His own plans for the immediate future include a coffee house for youth and a Christian counseling center. Sunday services will include Christian worship and teaching at 10:30 and charismatic healing at 6:30. Christian teaching will take place Thursday evenings at 7:30.

Parkers' Travails

No matter what position they take on the proposed Borough parking garage, most people would agree that parking in Princeton is no easy task.

Three students studying X-ray technology at the Princeton Medical Center were lucky enough to squeeze their cars into free, all-day parking spaces on Clay Street Friday morning. When they returned from classes that evening at about 5 o'clock, however, they discovered that each of their cars had one tire slashed.

Captain Theodore Lewis of the Borough Police noted that Clay Street is one of few in that area with unlimited parking, and speculated that "someone doesn't want people parking there all day--residents can't park their own cars in front of their own houses."

Mr. and Mrs. Ahmed Mohamoud, 14 Maple Avenue, Plainsboro, all on August 4.

ASSAULT REPORTED

In Chambers St. Lot. A 19-year-old woman was grabbed from behind by a man as she got out of her car in the Chambers Street parking yard last Thursday morning, Borough Police reported.

The man then asked the woman if she would join him in the rear seat of her car. The woman elbowed the man and ran off to an office building nearby, where she had a dentist's appointment. She then observed the assailant, who was still near her car in the parking lot.

The incident occurred at about 10 o'clock, but police said it was not reported until nearly noon, after the woman had returned to her job at Princeton University's Green Hall. By then the man had left.

TOWN TOPICS is delivered without charge to every home in Princeton Borough and Township and to part or all of West Windsor, Lawrence, Hopewell, Montgomery, South Brunswick and Franklin Townships and Griggstown. At all newsstands, including TOWN TOPICS' office, it costs 20 cents.
